What are personal data?

Personal data are all data that can be traced back to a person. Examples include your name, address, telephone number, your CV and – for example – your bank account number for us to be able to pay your salary.

When do you provide personal data to CSC?

When you register with CSC, or we place you at one of our clients, or when you fill in and submit a web form on our site, you provide us with personal data. This concerns, for example, your name and address, your CV or information that you enter in a free text field. These data are necessary to respond to your question, to be able to register with CSC, to be able to introduce you to our clients, to place you at our clients and to pay your salary.

Who is the controller for the processing of personal data?

CSC is the legal controller for the processing of personal data with your registration, mediation and employment with us.

Which personal data does CSC process?
